    cout << "Halo " << nama << ", Jenis kelamin anda " << jeniskelamin << endl;
    cout << "Alhamdulillah" << endl;

2. Hasil Run

The screenshot shows the Visual Studio Code interface with a C++ file named 'Untitled-1.cpp' open. The code is a simple program that prints a greeting and asks for the user's name and gender. The terminal window at the bottom shows the program being executed in a Windows PowerShell environment. The output of the program is displayed in the terminal, showing the greeting and the user's input.
